Three NACADA AdvisorConnect Web Events:

Event #1: Advising Needs of First Generation Students: NACADA Leaders Share their Experiences
Hear three NACADA leaders share their experiences as first generation college students. The Webinar will be followed by a discussion about our own First Generation students led by local experts.

Wednesday, September 16, 2015
1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Rudder Tower 401

Co-sponsored by LAUNCH

Event #2: Academic Advising for High Achieving Students: Strategies that Foster Resilience
Kerry Thomas and Nova Schauss will offer strategies for helping students navigate trying times. The Webinar will be followed by a discussion about unique needs of and programs and services provided to Texas A&M’s high achieving students.

Thursday, November 5, 2015
1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Rudder Tower 401

Co-sponsored by LAUNCH

Event #3: Communicating Effectively in Academic Advising: It’s not just WHAT we say, but HOW and WHEN we say it
A team of five panelists will share their insights into the important aspects of communication for effective academic advising.

Thursday, December 10, 2015
1:00 – 2:30 p.m.
Rudder Tower 701

Followed by a panel of Texas A&M Academic Advising Administrators:

- Mr. Andy Armstrong, Director, College of Liberal Arts Undergraduate Advising Program
- Dr. Karl Mooney, Director, Transition Academic Programs Advising
- Dr. Linda Windle, Associate Director, Undergraduate Advising, Mays School of Business

For information about the moderator, panelists, and details of each Webinar, go to www.nacada.ksu.edu.